

We Hold These Truths: Massachusetts History and Contemporary Activism on Screen

WHAT

Two film screenings that address the work of Massachusetts residents from past to present who have fought for justice

WHERE

UMass Amherst Henry M. Thomas III Center at Springfield, Tower Square

WHEN

Thursday, November 5th, 4:30-7:30pm

4:30-5:30pm

MOSAIC—presented by SPHHS Western MA Health Equity Network and the Center for Community Health Equity Research, a 25 minute documentary film highlighting the transformational work of local leaders of color and other voices from the Connecticut River Valley to the Berkshires focusing on the intersection of racism and health.

6:00-7:30pm

Promises of the Revolution, presented by University Without Walls Dept of Interdisciplinary Studies, UMass Amherst, produced by Mass Humanities and GBH, --four short films examining American Revolution history through the lens of Black, LGBT+, youth, and Indigenous voices in Massachusetts.

Both screenings will be followed by discussion and Q & A with people involved with making the film.

The event will provide pizza between screenings
RSVP requested but not required: risa@umass.edu

UMassAmherst

School of Public Health & Health Sciences
Western Massachusetts Health Equity Network

UMassAmherst
Henry M. Thomas III
Center at Springfield

UMassAmherst

University Without Walls
Interdisciplinary Studies